Profile

Gary McMath has thirteen years post-production experience, working with all guises of Avid, Final Cut Pro, recording formats and finishing equipment.

A freelance editor for seven years, Gary has now worked on over a hundred hours of high quality television productions for the major UK networks in nearly all of the popular genres and formats such as Natural History, Action\Adventure, Observational Documentaries, Reality Television, Sports, Music Videos, Game Shows, Drama and also has extensive corporate credits.

A strong story teller he brings the skills and the creativity to edit quickly and to a very high standard. He has a strong narrative sense, with excellent communication, media and time management skills which enables him to work on both short and long form edits over a wide variety of formats, styles and deadlines.

He has extensive technical experience thanks to his previous role as a Technical Support Manager for one of Europe's leading supplier of professional broadcasting equipment and is able to completely support the post production suites/other editors when required.

Gary's extremely hardworking, he enjoys working within a large team and has a relaxed, good-natured attitude but he still has all the skills necessary to work independently in both the offline and online environment.
